

Excerpt from "Travel Q+A"

Florence Stickney

The New York Times

Sunday March 13, 2005

Academic Arrangements Abroad has since the late 70's designed educational travel programs for museums, cultural organizations and alumni associations, including Princeton, Dartmouth and the Metropolitan Museum. Its Web site lists tours by destination (Europe, the Caribbean etc.), by interest (art and architecture, ancient civilizations, etc.) or by date. On July 12 to 24, the Metropolitan Museum and Phillips Exeter Academy are sponsoring Byzantium's Northern Shore: The Black Sea aboard the Sea Cloud, with Helen Evans, a curator at the museum, and Richard Murphy, former ambassador to Saudi Arabia. From $7,950, double occupancy (without air fare); (800) 221-1944;